Stacktraces in the Console

Help Chrome DevTools become better

Why are they different?

```
DevTools - localhost:9090/
                                                                ____
   Г Elements
                                          Network >>

1
                       Console
                                 Sources simple.is X function onClickBasic() { 3 someFunction():
   4 function someFunction() { anotherFunction();
   8
   9 function anotherFunction() { 10 throw new Error('Something went wrong with handling the 11
  12
  13
{}
                                                      Coverage: n/a X Console
                        Filter
                                                  Default levels ▼
                                                                   (3)
No Issues

    ▼Uncaught Error: Something went wrong with simple.is:10

   handling the button click!
       at anotherFunction (simple.js:10:11)
       at someFunction (simple.js:6:5)
       at onClickBasic (simple.js:3:3)
       at nimebuctonetement, onctick ((index):12:46) anotherFunction @ simple.js:10
     someFunction
                     @ simple.js:6
     onClickBasic @ simple.js:3
     onclick
                     @ (index):12
```

```
DevTools - localhost:9090/
                                                          ...
                                                          £
                              Sources
          Elements Console Network >>

1 simple-caught.js X function onClickBasicCaught() { try { someFunction(); } catch (e) { console.error('Caught an error' e); ❷
   6
   8 function someFunction() { 9 anotherFunction();
  10
  11 12 function anotherFunction() { throw new Error('Something went wrong with handling the 13
  14
  15
  16
{}
                                                  Coverage: n/a X Console top ▼ 0
                      Filter
                                              Default levels ▼
No Issues
simple-caught.js:5
  wrong with handling the button click!
      at anotherFunction (simple-caught.js:13:11)
      at someFunction (simple-caught.js:9:5) at onClickBasicCaught (simple-caught.js:3:9) at HTMLRuttonFlement onclick ((index):13:52) onClickBasicCaught @ simple-caught.js:5
    onclick
                      @ (index):13
```

Uhm, where is my stacktrace?!

```
DevTools - localhost:9090/
                                                                7
                                                                (2) Г
                                 Sources
                                            Network >> 8 1
           Elements
                       Console Default levels ▼
                        Filter
No Issues

⊗ Uncaught Error: Something went wrong with simple.js:10

   handling the button click!
       at anotherFunction (simple.js:10:11)
       at someFunction (simple.js:6:5)
       at onClickBasic (simple.js:3:3)
       at HTMLButtonElement.onclick ((index):12:46)
>
```

If you want to help, please fill out this survey.

